

ABSTRACT

The present inventions provide methods and systems for optimizing the power consumption of a power amplifier used to amplify a QAM modulated signal by dynamically adjusting its compression point. The compression point is 5 adjusted based upon the instantaneous peak value of the base band QAM signal.